

Angelica Salazar, MPAS, PA-C

Angelica graduated from Ropes High School as Salutatorian in 2002. She went on to attend Texas Tech University to follow her dream of practicing medicine.

She received a Bachelor of Science from Texas Tech in 2006 and was the first in her family to graduate from college. She majored in Biology and minored in Spanish. While attending Texas Tech, she was selected into the McNair Scholars Program and the Joint Admission Medical Program.

Upon graduation, Angelica was accepted into the Physician Assistant Studies program at the University of North Texas Health Science Center in Fort Worth. She was involved in numerous clubs and served as the Physician Assistant Association's Vice President. During her time in PA School, her Master's research poster was awarded second place at the UNTHSC Research Appreciation Days.

She earned her Master degree in Physician Assistant Studies in 2010 and began practicing medicine. For the past six years, she has been practicing Family Medicine outside of Fort Worth in Decatur, Texas. She has also practiced Pediatric Medicine in Fort Worth.

Meanwhile she was also called into ministry and attended Canaan Night Bible School in Lubbock where she graduated in 2005 and became a credentialed minister. She and her husband Joshua, upon moving to Fort Worth, joined a church plant team. They currently serve as executive lead pastors at New Day International Church in Fort Worth.

Angelica resides in Fort Worth with her husband, of fifteen years, Joshua Salazar. They have three children, a son Aiden and two daughters Ashlyn Trinity and Sadie Abigail.
